COMMUNICATION COMMITTEE REPORT

Being responsible for communication in our organization, the Communication Committee has three main channels. These are the Website www.fepto.com, the Newsletter FEPTO.News <http://www.fepto.com/newsletter>, and the Facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/FEPTO-451429201652943>

We make every effort to develop and keep them adequate to the requirements of technology and the peculiarities of the time in which we now live. Despite the complications this year has brought to all of us, we managed to offer timely and up-to-date information to our membership and regularly update it. In all its activities the Communication committee works in very close coordination with the council.

Given the pandemic situation, this year set particularly high demands on communication in order to keep the community together and save the internal life of the organization. Thus, in a natural way the communication committee and in particular I as its chairman was very essentially involved in the realization of events, through ZOOM, organized by the Council.

We are also responsible for developing and monitoring the communications policies. As you may know, actions have been taken to merge the two Facebook profiles. The one, which was created 6 years ago, and for which the board has administrative rights and password to access, and the one which was created anonymously in the past and to which FEPTO has no rights to administrate. The idea to merge is to avoid spillage of information.

Please notice the following:

In order to facilitate the work of the webmaster, it is recommended that the information submitted for the Psychodrama calendar be translated into English.

Also, in order to offer the most up-to-date and timely information, it is desirable to inform us when changing the dates so that we can publish the change.
