

Dear Colleagues and friends,

We would like to invite you to the 3rd International Conference on Psychodrama with Children and Adolescents!

Understanding children's play is a serious science and an art at the same time. International psychodramatists working with children and young people have been meeting regularly for several years with the support of FEPTO.

Understanding children "through play" requires constant reflection and exchange among colleagues. Especially in the difficult times of war and COVID-19, children and adolescents suffer the most and professional helpers have to adapt to the current challenges.

We would like to explore the connection between the brain and play in children, adolescents and adults and look at this from both directions - how the brain is shaped by play, how the imagination opens up, but also the neurobiological mechanisms responsible for play and how the functions of play might be related to these neural substrates.

Alfons Aichinger will both lead a seminar and give a lecture on the topic.

It is time to meet again, exchange ideas and get new impulses. Come to Plovdiv, meet like-minded people and playmates and visit a beautiful ancient Roman cultural capital.
