Research Committee in times of the pandemic – updates and call for papers

I hope everything is going well for you despite the pandemic and its manifold impact on our personal and professional lives. We all hope that step by step we will be able to return to normal life in the near future.

Regarding our research activities and Research Committee Meetings I would like to inform you about our decision to cancel the planned Research Committee Meeting in Torino in October this year. It will be postponed for October next year. Therefore, the next Research Committee Meeting will take place in Budapest. Please keep in your diary the following dates

FEPTO Research Committee Meeting in Budapest 4th -7th of March 2021

FEPTO Research Committee Meeting in Torino 14th -17th of October 2021

The work in our Research Committee has not stopped during the pandemic. We are glad to let you know, that our ZPS Journal edition on Psychodrama Research is in its final steps. Soon you will be receiving more detailed information about this Journal issue (see also our website fepto.com)

Furthermore, the planning of the ZPS Journal with FEPTO contributions on Psychodrama is on its way. The issue will cover psychodrama theory, practice, training and research. Articles on psychodrama research are very much welcome. Please have a look at the call for papers (see below) and send an abstract for this issue. We have extended the deadline to 1st of December for the final article. The articles will be peer reviewed and considered for publishing in 2021. We are looking forward to receiving your contributions.

I am also looking forward to welcoming you in one of our next Research Committee Meeting.

Stay healthy, optimistic and resilient!

With love and all my best wishes,

Johannes Krall
Chair of the Research Committee
